

B2BGATEWAY RECOGNIZED BY CIO REVIEW AS A TOP 20 MOST PROMISING LOGISTICS SOLUTION PROVIDER.

June 30, 2015 | Boston, MA – B2BGateway, a leading global, cloud-based EDI solution provider has been recognized as a ‘Top 20 Most Promising Logistics Solution Provider’ by CIO Review Magazine for its work in providing seamless integrated EDI solutions to Third Party Logistics Providers (3PL) and all relevant parties in the supply chain.

Since its establishment in Boston in 1999, B2BGateway has been providing cutting edge cloud based EDI and automated supply chain solutions to logistics providers throughout the globe. With offices in North America, Europe and Australia, B2BGateway supports clients in over 30 countries and 17 different time zones. B2BGateway’s EDI software fully integrates with most WMS/ERP/MRP or OMS systems and can support all recognized international EDI standards and communication protocols that may be required: ANSI X12, EDIFACT, Tradacoms, Eancom, Odette, XML, VAN, FTPs, AS2, etc.

By fully integrating the solution through cloud based technology, B2BGateway is able to remove the need for the client to re-key data. This, in turn, leads to greater accuracy, increased labor efficiencies and it expedites the order-to-payment cycle for the end user.

As well as leading edge technology solutions, B2BGateway also prides itself in customer support and aftercare service. According to Vince Cercone, Manager Customer Integration, IT Business Solutions at Kuehne+Nagel, Inc. “For more than six years, Kuehne+Nagel’s Contract Logistics division has worked with B2BGateway, electronically integrating various business clients into the company’s warehouse management system (WMS). When I call, I know that I will be greeted with a friendly ‘Hello, B2BGateway;’ my emails are answered promptly with either an answer or a timeline for when I can expect an answer. In solving problems, no matter the origin, the team goes the distance to work with all parties to resolve them as quickly as possible – and always with a positive attitude.”

Roger Leyden, Director of Global Business Development at B2BGateway adds “*B2BGateway is delighted to be recognized as a ‘Top 20 Most Promising Logistics Solution Provider’ by our industry peers at CIO Review.
