November 22, 2016 | Shannon, Ireland – B2BGateway, a leading global EDI solution provider, was shortlisted as a finalist in the recent UK Logistics & Supply Chain Excellence Awards at a gala evening in London's Hilton Hotel on Park Lane.

B2BGateway along with their client Maclaren were shortlisted as a finalist for the 'B2BGateway EDI Connect App' in the Technology section of this year's 20th anniversary awards. The B2BGateway EDI App is an application that allows B2BGateway clients to access their EDI accounts 24/7 on any mobile device. The App is available to B2BGateway customers to download free on the Apple iTunes and Google Play app stores. While the existing B2BGateway cloud EDI platform allows users to manage their full EDI accounts, clients such as Maclaren can now use the B2BGateway EDI Connect App on their Android and Apple devices to oversee trading partner relationships, get daily EDI transactions, have an instant overview of all orders and contact support 24/7.

The awards ceremony took place on Monday, November 14th in the Hilton Hotel on Park Lane and was hosted by comedienne Lucy Porter. B2BGateway with Maclaren, DHL with Tradeshift, Sky, Vodafone, Checkedsafe and Tesco were shortlisted as finalists in the Technology Awards category, with Vodafone taking the overall prize.

Roger Leyden, Director of Global Business Development at B2BGateway states, "It is an honour to be shortlisted as a finalist in this year's UK Logistics & Supply Chain Excellence Awards. When we developed the B2BGateway EDI Connect App back in the Spring of 2016, we wanted to give our clients something new, something special, but above all something that would help enhance and lighten their daily workloads. The B2BGateway EDI Connect App was developed to be a standalone tool that could function separately to the B2BGateway EDI Client Portal, allowing clients 24/7 access to their EDI accounts from a mobile device, regardless of geographical location or time zone. We are also thrilled that our client Maclaren agreed to become an early adapter of the App and are now singing its praises from the rooftops."
